WE CURE TO STAY CURED MYSTERY SHROUDS

DOCTOR TOLSON, Of the State Electro-Medical Institute. Specialist in Diseases of Men.

gious Blood Poison, Nervo-Sexual Debility, Rupture, Kidney and Urinary Diseases and All Reflex Complications and Associate Diseases and Weaknesses

We want every man thus afflicted to houestly investigate our special Electro-Medical system of treatment. We invite in particular all who have treated elsewhere without success; all whose cases have been abandoned by family physicians and so-called experts; all whose troubles have been aggravated and made worse by the use of Specifics, Free Samples, Trial Treatments or similar devices. We will explain to you why such treatment has not cured you and will demonstrate to your entire satisfaction that we can cure you safely, quickly and permanently. Our counsel will cost you nothing, and our charges for a perfect cure will not be more than you will be willing to pay for benefits conferred. We will do by you as we would want you to do by us if our cases were reversed. Certainty of cure is what you want. We can and will cite you, by permission, some of the best citizens of this city whom we have cured and made happy, and who will cheerfully vouch for our financial as well as professional What we have done for them we can do for you.

VARICOCELE Under our Electro-Medical treatment this insidious disease rapidly VARICOCELE disappears. Pain ceases almost instantly. The pools of stagmant blood are driven from the dilated velus, and all soreness and swelling quickly subside. Every indication of varicocele soon vanishes and in its stead comes the pride, the power and the pleasure of perfect health and restored manhood.

STRICTURE Our Electro-Medical treatment dissolves the stricture completely inflammation, stops every unnatural discharge, reduces the prostate gland, cleaned and heals the bladder and kidneys, invigorates the sexual organs and restores health and soundness to every part of the bodyaffected by the disease.

CONTAGIOUS BLOOD POISON Our special form of Electro-Medical treatsult of our life work, and is indorsed by the best physicians of this and foreign countries. It contains no dangerous drugs or injurious medicines of any kind. It goes to the very bottom of the disease and forces out every particle of impurity. Soon every sign and symptom disappears completely and forever. The blood, the tissue, the flesh, the bones, and the whole system are cleaned, purified and restored to perfect health, and the patient prepared anew for the duties and pleasures of life.

RERVO-SEXUAL DEBILITY Men, many of you are now reaping the result of your former folly. Your manhood is failing and will soon be lost unless you do something for yourself. There is no time to lose. Impotency, like all sexual diseases, is never on the standstill. With it you can make no compromise. Either you must master it or it will master you, and fill your whole future with misery and indescribable woe. We have treated so many cases of this kind that we are as familiar with them as you are with the very daylight. Once cured by us you will never again be bothered with emissions, drains, prematureness, small or weak organs, nervousness, failing memory, loss of ambition or other symptoms which rob you of your manhood and absolutely unfit you for study, business, pleasure or marriage. Our treatment for weak men will correct all these evils and restore you to what nature intended—a hale, healthy, happy man, with physical, mental and sexual powers complete.

REFLEX DISEASES Many allments are reflex, originating from other diseases. REFLEX DISEASES Many allments are reflex, originating from other diseases from Varicoccie or Stricture; innumerable blood and bone diseases often result from contagious blood taints in the system, or physical and mental decline frequently follow impotency. In treating diseases of any kind we always remove the origin—we cure

Ribble, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal Church, at the rectory, were driven hurriedly to the steamer and headed back to Baltimore. Only a few persons knew of the marriage and they knew nothing of the contracting parties, especially the bridegroom, although MacDowell imparted the information to Chief of Police Harwood that he had been married five times before. In securing the marriage license he said that he had been married twice, and that his wives had been married twice before, but the wives and the husbands were dead.

Judge Morrow stated from the bench that he could not render a judicial opinion as to the existence of bubonic plague in this city owing to the conflicting testimony of the doctors of the Board of Health and the experts on that disease introduced by counsel for the Chinese, but Judge Morrow stated it as his private opinion that plague has not existed and does not exist in San Prancisco.

tally Stabbed at Laclede and Vandeventer Avenues.

a Stranger With Whom He Had Drank a Short While Before.

William Loewneu, a dealer at the Union Market, received serious and probably fatal injuries at 10 o'clock last night in a lot at the junction of Laclede and Vandeventer avenues, from a man whose identity has not yet been discovered.

This man stabbed Loewneu eight times, inflicting a serious wound in each case. He then escaped, running in the direction of Market street. Loewneu fired three shots at him as he ran. His flight and the outcry raised by Loewneu attracted a number of police officers to the scene, several of whom fired at the fleeing man, but apparently without result.

Sergeant W. L. Thompson of Company G of the deputies also fired a number of shots at the fugitive, but did not stop him.

The cutting has a mysterious side to it, inasmuch as Loewneu is apparently concealing the identity of the man who stabbed him. He at first denied that he knew the man's name, or that he had ever seen him before, but later said that the man had formerly worked as a street car conductor on the Northern Central due. He afterwards contradicted himself, and repeated the statement that he did not know the man. He also gave fictitious names to the police when his own name was asked, and his true name was only learned after he had been at the hospital for some time.

They were evidently inflicted by a long, slender-bladed knife, and must have been made while Loewneu was running away. There are a number of points to the story which the police discredit Loewneu became tangled up several times in explaining his route after leaving the saloon, and stated that he was walking out Lackede to take the Suburban cars on Sarah street. As he could have reached them by walking across from Olive street, this story is not believed. He also seemed to know a good deal about his companion, as he made the statement that he was formerly a conductor, and had not been at work for some time, and later denied that he had ever seen his assailant before. He said he believed highway robbery was the motive in attacking him, but, as the man evidently pursued him, stabbing him each time, the police believed than mere robbery. Moreover, Loewneu positively stated that he ran away from the man in a direction entirely different from the course in which the police found him.

married twice, and that his wives had been married twice before, but the wives and the husbands were dead.

The couple arrived about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the steamer from Baltimore. They telephoned for a carriage and went immediately to the office of the Chief of Police, when they asked for the services of a maristrate. When they learned that they could not be married in this State by a Justice of the Peace, they decided to get a marriage license. They went with the Chief to the clerk's office.

MacDowell said that he was 41 years of age, was born in New Jersey, and resided in New York, and his occupation that of actor: that the names of his parents were Thomas and Janie Louisa MacDowell, and that he was a widower.

Mrs. Witton said that she was a widow, 27 years of age, born in Baltimore, resided in Maryland, and that her parents were William Strauss and Annette Love.

MacDowell was attired in a blue serge suit, and his bride was dressed in black allk, with a bodice of black and white stripes, While she is a handsome woman, largo and of fine figure, she was not dressed in keeping with her impressive bearing and refined demeanor, and her costume did not appear to fit her. On her fingers she wore numerous diamond rings, which were worth possibly $1.500 or more.

After procuring the license the couple were driven to the rectory of St. Paul's and there married, with only two witnesses. They were driven rapidly to the sienmer, and left for Baltimore via Norrolk Before departing, MacDowell said he did not expect to live with his new wife. from the course in which the ponce found him.

Detectives Lee Killian, Skidmore, Murphy, McCarthy and Cordell endeavored to get him to tell a straight story, but he persisted in contradicting himself. While on the dressing table he asked that the Compton Heights stables be telephoned and a man named Heyer be notified that he was at the City Hospital.

Loewneu is 40 years of age, lives at No. 4505 Lotus, and is married. He is well known at the Union Market, where he has occupied the same stall for seventeen years. He deals in butter and eggs.

> BY HERBERT W. PAUL SPECIAL BY CABLE.

London, July 16 .- (Copyright, 1900, by the New York Herald Company.)-Mr. Morley's speech at the Palmerston Club Saturday evening has been the most important event of the recess. The Palmerston Club was founded at Oxford rather more than twenty years ago by a number of liberal undergraduates, among whom the present Sir Alfred Milner was the most distinguished. Its name is not very happily chosen, and has long since ceased to express the opinions of its members, who are chiefly Radicals of a rather advanced type. They are, however, the flower of young Oxford liberalism, and their enthusiastic reception to Mr. Morley was most remarkable.

I have been to a good many political dinners, but never saw such enthusiasm before. The guest of the evening was loudly cheered when he came in, still more loudly theered when he arose. All his points were taken up with hearty appreciation, and when he sat down the applause was tre-

Significant Demonstration.

This is not a demonstration which practical politicians can afford to neglect, for these young men are samples who re must not be supposed that they share Mr. Morely's opinions on all subjects-for in-cupation is concluded, everything will be left in his hands.

Mr. Morley has since written a letter to the Times in which he denies that his view of annexation differs from Sir Henry Campbell Bannerman's, as expressed two days before at Glasgow. There is probably not much difference between the personal opinions of the two men, but they certainly do not express them in the same way. Mr. Morley regards the necessity of annexation, if it exists, as one more proof that the policy which led to the war was foolish and wrong. Sir Henry tries to make the best of it and to show that it may be compatible with a good deal of actonomy.

Mr. Morley is in a position to use Mr. Gladstone's historic words, "Greater freedom and less responsibility." He severed himself from the councils of the Liberal party when Sir William Vernon Harcourt resigned the leadership, and he has not since attended any meeting of his former colleagues. It is a curious coincidence that within a few days of the Oxford dinner, at which three heads of houses and several professors were present, an unauthorized rumor of Sir William's retirement from the House of Commons should have drawn from him an emphatic disclaimer. This is not the time, he says, for a man to desert his party and his cause, on the subject of the war. Sir William Harcourt, whose seat may be considered absolutely sufe, is entirely at one with Morley.

Mr. Morley believes it is the Socialism who will ultimately profit by the downfail of liberalism. It may be that the war will improve the position of socialism in England, as the Dreyfus case improved it in France, but if there were a substantial reduction of the revenue just as increased taxation was making itself feit, the old watchwords of the Manchester school, "peace, retrenchment and reform," might be heard again with effect.

KERENS-HENRY WEDDING AT ELKINS, W. VA.

DEPUBLIC SPECIAL Ekins, W. Va., June 16.-In the plain little Catholic chapel of St. Brendan's, in this elty, the summer home of half a dozen multi-millionaires. Miss Jane Bedford Henty of New York City was married to-day to Vincent Kerens of St. Louis, son of Mr. Richard C. Kerens, the Missouri member of the Republican National Committee

It was a very pretty wedding. The church is hardly large enough to turn a bridal train in, even if there were no pews, but the decorations, consisting of native mountain greenery and dooryard flowers, transformed modest building into a bower of simple rustic beauty that was more charming than would have been a more pretentious structure. What was lacking in space and grandeur of editice was compensated for, more over, by the personnel of the principals and Bride and bridegroom are both quite young, the former being scarcely out of her teens, while Mr. Kerens is but 25 years old. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Katherine Henry of New York. here in Elking That the boy and girl who were married to-day should have grown to love each other is but the natural outcome of such a family friendship. Young Mr. Kerens and his bride's brother were college chums and became fast friends. To-day the bride's brother gave her away. Richard C. Kerens Jr., acted as best man, and Miss Gladys Kerens as flower girl. The ceremony was performed by the Right Reverend P. J. Donahue, Bishop of Wheeling, assisted by the local priest, and the Reverend Father Lavelle of the New York Cathedral. The wedding originaly had been planned to take place at the Cathedral in New York, but Mrs. Manning the mother of Mrs. Kerens and grandmother of the bridegroom, who is living at the Kerens summer home here. was unequal to the trip, and the scene of the wedding was changed in deference to her wishes.

The guests to-day included Senator Ste phen B. Elkins and family, former Senator Henry G. Best for the Bowels

London, June 16.—A collision between an express train and a train filled with Windsor race goers occurred at Slough. According to later advices from the scene of the accident, only three persons were killed. The race train was standing at Slough Station when the express dashed into the rear end of the former train. Some of the coaches were telescoped. The severe injuries sustained consisted largely of broken limbs. Mrs. Bernard Beere (Mrs. C. W. Oliver), the actress, was badly bruised and cut about the arms.

The total number of those injured in the accident is sixty-one.
